"I started my flooring business over ten years ago and have been a member of BNI for over eight of those years. As with all new start-ups, gaining business and business leads was of paramount importance and although advertising and telesales brought results, joining BNI was by far and away the most cost effective method of producing results.

I gained business from my first attendance and have had a very good flow of referrals ever since, not only from current but also from past members of BNI. The rewards of belonging to BNI are not merely confined to the referrals that are given and received, they are to be found in the relationships that are built up within the organisation. I have had advice - trade contacts - loan of equipment, worth hundreds of pounds and all freely given.

*Would I recommend BNI?.....Definitely
As a business tool?.....Essential
For gaining business contacts.....Necessity*

Oh and the people are jolly nice too !!!!! "

John Sims, Floor Coverings

"My company is a relatively new start up Property Maintenance company based near Nantwich. As with all new businesses, it needs nurturing and I was somewhat sceptical about BNI.

Now with 6 weeks of BNI under my belt the good beginning I needed has happened. With 12 referrals of which over 50% have already been converted to actual business and more to follow! An excellent atmosphere, educational slots, a vast business sales window and a truly superb opportunity.

Asking yourself "should I Join?" My answer is "Yes, without a shadow of a doubt".

Dave Skeels, Practical Property Developments

"We have been members of Congleton BNI for 8 years and gained not only work from it, but also a fantastic array of contacts.

With the meetings starting first thing in the morning it does not take anything off your day.

We would recommend that you give it a try with the price of advertising, why not promote your business yourself and meet some great people along the way."

Martin Beech, E Beech Joinery
